

Zonta's Day of Film 2016:

For one in five women, their dream school will become a nightmare.

The statistics are staggering. One in five women in college are sexually assaulted, yet only a fraction of these crimes are reported, and even fewer result in punishment for the perpetrators.

The Hunting Ground reveals an endemic system of institutional cover-ups, rationalizations, victim-blaming, and denial. But two survivors take matters into their own hands and use a Title IX legal strategy to fight back.

This documentary has inspired new laws in New York and California and changes in campus policies.
