President's Message for May...

I would like to thank each and every one of the members for all of their advice, encouragement and support during this past year. I cannot tell you how much all of this meant to me. I feel that it has been a most interesting learning experience.

I feel the membership committee did a wonderful job. We have had some most interesting programs and speakers. We have four new members who are already active both in the club and with our service projects.

We had a successful fashion show I certainly enjoyed meeting and getting to know Elizabeth Loesch. Her Conflict Center is unfortunately much needed in today's world. Thank you to all those who interviewed prospective grant recipients and found such a great woman and organization to become our pacesetter.

The service committee did a great job with our other grant recipients. They are also doing a superb job of finding us opportunities for hands-on service. I feel they have found something that should fit everyone's time and interest.

The communications committee (small but mighty) has kept us all informed using both the Smoke Signal and other means (email, telephone, regular mail). Thanks to Wendy we have a new club brochure which I think is a real winner. We had great publicity for our fashion show. The displays generated interest in the club. I feel Julie and Wendy deserve a lot of praise.

I want to thank the Status of Women committee for their work in finding our Young Woman in Public Affairs. They also provided us with several interesting speakers.

Most of all, I want to thank all of my board members. They have all done a spectacular job the entire year. Every member worked hard and did great. The officers worked most diligently. I hope future presidents have a board even close to the one I had.

I have asked Julie to enclose the wonderful piece about the geese in the Smoke Signal (thank you Judy McNerny for bringing it back to our attention). I think the club members need to think of themselves as belonging to the flock of geese that is the Zonta Club of

Community Information Update

Women of the West Museum to Merge With Autry Museum of Western Heritage

DENVER, CO - The Colorado-based Women of the West Museum will merge with the Autry Museum of Western Heritage, Los Angeles, effective in April 2002, directors of both museums announced today.

The mission of the Women of the West Museum, founded in Boulder, Colorado in 1991, is to discover, explore, and communicate the continuing role of women in shaping the American West. Its innovative programs include an award-winning Web site, exhibits, and community-based educational programs.

The merger will enable continuation and expansion of these exhibits and programs, as well as support new research. As part of the merger, each museum will contribute $1 million to create an endowed position, Curator of Western Women's History, at the Autry. The Autry Museum will continue several Women of the West exhibits. Four members of the Women of the West Museum board will join the Autry's Board of Trustees.

Some Colorado-specific programs will remain in Colorado. Revealing Our Routes: Women in Boulder County, a history trail program, will be headquartered at the Boulder History Museum. The Women of West Museum is also meeting with community leaders to install permanently the eleven panels of the LoDo Mural Project, about women in Colorado History, in the central Platte Valley.

Denver. We need to unite in our common goals, and encourage our fellow club members. Only in this way can the club flourish. I think we have made a start on thinking this way and I hope will grow and develop into a close-knit "flock". Thank you for letting me be a part of this process

Cynthia

Rosalyn Carter (1927— ), Former First Lady (1977-1981)

A skillful speaker and a hardworking First Lady, Mrs. Carter managed routine duties and special projects in her office in the East Wing. She attended Cabinet meetings and major briefings, frequently represented the Chief Executive at ceremonial occasions, and served as the President's personal emissary to Latin American countries.

As First Lady, she focused national attention on the performing arts. She invited to the White House leading classical artists from around the world, as well as traditional American artists. She also took a strong interest in programs to aid mental health, the community, and the elderly. From 1977 to 1978, she served as the Honorary Chairperson of the President's Commission on Mental Health.

After returning home, Mrs. Carter wrote her autobiography, First Lady From Plains, published in 1984. She is currently vice chair of The Carter Center in Atlanta, founded in 1982 to promote peace and human rights worldwide. At the Center, she leads a program to diminish stigma against mental illness and to promote greater access to mental health care. She also is a partner with the ex-president in projects to resolve conflict, promote human rights, improve global health, and build democracy in some 65 countries.

There is still a need for cheese, meat and peanut butter sandwiches (cut in quarters), grapes, chips and cookies for the DK1 Reception.

Lessons on Teamwork from the Geese

When you see geese heading back north for the summer flying along in “V” formation, you might reflect on what scientists have discovered about why they fly that way.

As each bird flaps its wings, it creates an uplift for the bird immediately following. By flying in “V” formation, the whole flock adds at least 71 percent greater flying range than if each bird flew on its own.

Principle: People sharing a common direction and sense of community can get where they are going more quickly and easily because they travel on the thrust of one another.

If a goose falls out of formation, it suddenly feels the drag and resistance of trying to go it alone and quickly gets back into formation to take advantage of the lifting power of the bird immediately in front.

Principle: There is strength, power and safety in numbers when traveling in the same direction as others with whom we share a common goal.

When the lead goose gets tired, it rotates back in the wing and another goose flies point.

Principle: It pays to take turns doing hard jobs—with people or with geese flying north.

The geese honk from behind to encourage those up front to keep up their speed.

Principle: Those who exercise leadership need to be remembered with our active support and praise.

Finally, if a goose gets sick or is wounded by gunshot and falls out, two geese fall out of formation and follow him down to help and protect him. They stay until he is either able to fly or until he is dead. Then they launch out on their own or join with another formation to catch up with their group.

Principle: We must stand by those among us in their times of need.

SERVICE OPPORTUNITIES UPDATE

We have heard you and your ideas, so this is the latest information on Service Opportunities through your Zonta Club of Denver! Additional Service Opportunities will be added, or dropped from the "Upcoming Service Opportunities" Table as the year progresses. Look for this Table in your monthly Smoke Signal to keep informed of new and fun opportunities.

Every Service event or project needs someone to love, nurture and allow it to be successful, in one word a "Leader". Can you be the Zontian Service Coordinator (ZSC) for a Service Opportunity that you really care about? It's easy and doesn't take much time. And remember, there is a Service Committee Member that can assist you with some of these duties:

- Ensure that the Club Membership is informed of the details surrounding the Service Opportunity (this is the organization's name, address, date/s, times & tasks necessary for supporting the event.)
- Ensure that a sign-up sheet is available at our General Membership Meetings.
- Ensure that the event is featured in the Smoke Signal.
- If there are time constraints (less than 4 weeks) be certain that the membership is notified (via email or telephone) of the event.
- Communicate and coordinate with the organization of our involvement and the number of volunteers that will be available for the event.)
- Inform the Club volunteers of their responsibilities and other assistance as necessary.
- Final follow-ups with the organization and Club Members to confirm that this was a win-win project for all participants. (This can be as simple as speaking with everyone and doing a verbal report at the Monthly General Membership Meeting.)
